

The Elko Water Company.

The new Water Company will soon commence laying mains through the town, and they desire to know the pleasure of the property owners on the following proposition:

The Company propose to build a reservoir at the crossing of the ditch by the road that leads to Kittridge canyon; to lay a 7-inch pipe from that point to Lloyd Butler's stable; to lay street mains on Commercial and Railroad streets of 4-inch pipe, and on Idaho and Court streets of 3-inch pipe; to put in twenty, or more, hydrants at such points along the pipe line as may be selected by a Committee; to furnish water Summer and Winter from the ditch, or when that is impracticable from breakage or accident of any kind, from a pumping engine. Total fall from the reservoir to the foot of the flag pole, as ascertained by survey, 37 feet.

For this service the Company asks that the town pay the sum of $500 annually, and a Committee of five, consisting of F. F. Muller, J. Henderson, V. C. Bartlett, James Clark and A. W. Hesson, has been appointed to ascertain the sentiment of the people on this proposition. The Company is desirous to ascertain the feeling of the taxpayers as soon as possible, for unless this proposition is accepted the public hydrants, for the protection of property in case of fire, will not be put in.
