

For the State Gazette.

The Town Council will oblige many of the citizens by having the public wells put in order, or by making some arrangement with the proprietor of the Water Works, by which some notice may be given previous to the stopping of the water, which has been stopped this day, (and this not the only time by many,) six hours without any notice being given. It should be remembered, that those who have subscribed to this valuable work, have filled up their private wells, and that they are bound in their contract with the owner of the Water Works, not to permit their neighbors to take water from the spouts; and when the water is stopped, we are obliged to go to those neighbors whom we have refused a pail of water, and beg them to supply us. This is the situation in which we are placed, when we cannot be supplied at the public wells—which is the case at all times, except the summer months, and the time has arrived when even those months are neglected. Would not a few stop-cocks on the main street, remedy all the evil?

A CITIZEN.

August 23.